Polk County Dental Association Dealing With Endodontic Complications Raed S. Kasem, DDS, MS

Many factors could negatively influence the success of endodontic therapy. Non-surgical endodontic retreatment alone may still have its limits in achieving complete success. This clinical-based presentation emphasizes the importance of proper diagnosis for best treatment planning options such as microsurgical vs. non-surgical retreatment and discusses the importance of microsurgery as an essential part of a successful endodontic practice. Several well documented surgical & non-surgical cases will be demonstrated as examples of best approach to certain endodontic failures.

Dr. Kasem is a national and international speaker who obtained his Endodontic Residency at the University of Alabama at Birmingham, then obtained a Master of Science Degree in Dental biomaterials in 1991, while he was serving as an assistant professor at UAB School of dentistry. In 1991, Dr. Kasem received practical training in the surgical microscope at the Pacific Endodontic Research Foundation in San Diego, CA.

Dr. Kasem is an adjunct Assistant Professor in the Post-Graduate Endodontic Department at the University of Pennsylvania and University of Florida and co-authored the Endodontic Microsurgery Atlas published in 2018. He obtained two US Patents one in Endodontics in 1994 and one in surgical microscope in 2007.

Dr. Kasem is a fellow of the American College of Dentists and the International College of Dentists. He is the owner of Endodontics Associates which has offices in Clearwater, Trinity, and Tampa, Florida. He is also the Founder of the Florida Institute of Microdentistry.
